

Taiki, Hokkaido

The Republic of Taiki

Taiki is a town located in eastern Hokkaido, in southern Tokachi, with the Pacific Ocean to its east and the Hidaka Mountains to its west, with the vast Tokachi Plain sprawling at its center. It has developed with agriculture, fishing, and forestry as its key industries. In an effort to revitalize town, Taiki has leveraged its geographical advantages to develop itself as a "space town", opening Hokkaido Spaceport, a commercial spaceport open to the private sector, in April 2021, and promoting the expansion of launch sites and runways for rockets bearing satellites and spaceplanes.
